

Summary

I am a problem solver with a creative edge and a passion for transforming data into actionable insights. With experience in building engaging web properties, I thrive on tackling challenges and optimizing processes through data-driven solutions. I am eager to apply my analytical skills, curiosity, and knack for streamlining workflows to drive impactful decisions as a Data Analyst. Continuous learning and innovation are at the core of my professional growth, and I'm excited to contribute these strengths to a dynamic team.

After gaining hands-on experience in logistics and supply chain management, I deepened my expertise in data analytics, Salesforce, and core business principles. Now, I'm eager to bring my analytical mindset, problem-solving skills, and operational insights to a dynamic team as a Data Analyst. My unique blend of technical and industry experience allows me to bridge data-driven strategies with real-world business needs—delivering actionable insights that drive impact.
